

Industrial Sales Representative - Market Leading Product range

If you have a passion for industrial sales we want to be part of your developing career.

You will be representing world leading and respected product range in materials handling and engineering solutions. Our products include OLI Vibration, WAM Group Materials Handling and Kinder Bulk Materials Handling products.

We require someone to build and maintain customer relationships. This is a challenging but rewarding role, you will be working for a company that rewards effort and performance.

The role consists of:

- Customer relationship building & achieving sales targets
- Promoting our company and brands
- Dealing with consultants & project management
- Customer visits as sales and brand representative
- Internal sales support

A generous remuneration package will be offered including company vehicle, phone and uniform. We also offer an achievable bonus structure. Full technical training will be provided both in house and by factory WAM, OLI and Kinder personnel.

This is an opportunity to grow with our business and be part of a great team that will value and reward your contribution to our business.
